For more than 30 years, the Annual Colorfest has drawn thousands of people to Mentone's little village causing it to come to life with artists, musicians, local chefs and visiting patrons. They come to drink in the cool, crisp mountain air, admire the glory of the fall foliage, and enjoy the festivities. This year, Colorfest had a very successful year.

The Friday night Fish Fry, bonfire and live music by David Lusk was well attended and enjoyed by all. Saturday morning, the weather was perfect for One World Adventure's Color Craze 5K and 1 Mile Fun Run. Winners received their medals and the festival kicked off in full swing. A glorious display of arts and crafts from over 70 premier artists and craftsmen filled Brow Park, which offered the most spectacularly breathtaking bluff views. There were thousands of visitors and locals milling around town. After hearing from visitors, vendors and local businesses, we believe this was the BEST Colorfest we have had!

Exciting, down-home mountain music filled the air with the "Sounds of Mentone" – 2 days of a steady stream of music from some very talented local musicians that included Taylor Poff, Marc Womack, Ryan Keefe, Jerry Bloom, Jordan Brown, Jared Cushen, Jess Goggans, Silvia Constantino, Lisa Crow, Larry Joe Hall, Terry Hutcheson and David Lusk.

This year we added a stage at the Children's Festival that allowed singers and musicians from area schools to participate. These young performers included Hannah Blansit, Taylor Henderson, Bri Wells, Abigail Goosby, The Fowler Sisters, The Inputs, Moon Lake Chorus, Curtis Strange and winners of the Singing with the Stars competition, Kenadie Lee, Payton Sells and Tatum Campbell.

Sad News for Mentone

Linda Brown passed away on September 19, 2014. It is a great loss for Linda's family and a great loss for Mentone. Linda gave unselfishly to her community. She served as a council member, mayor, election official, board member of the North Lookout Mountain Fire Department, and board member of the Mentone Community Library. She was active in her church and garden club, and supported any cause she felt would help people and the community.

Linda was devoted to Bobby, her husband of sixty years, her children and grandchildren, brothers and sister, and extended family. She was a great cook and her house always looked like it was ready to be featured in Better Homes and Gardens.

From The Editor

Colorfest 2014 was an event to remember. The weather was perfect, scenery was beautiful, artist and craftsmen were the most and best ever, music filled the air on The Brow and downtown, food was abundant, decorations were everywhere, the Echota Tribe was represented, politicians were dunked, pumpkins were rolled and we even had vintage Groundhog newspapers for sale. Most agreed this was Mentone's biggest and best-attended festival in recent memory. Mentone citizens and visitors have a group of dedicated, hard working volunteers and many community minded sponsors to thank for everything but the weather. 'They amaze me!'

Mentone, Alabama is home to only three or four hundred, yet with mostly local money and community volunteers it supports art, music and language education; art and music shows and festivals; cultural history education and preservation; a community newspaper; business cooperation; and fire protection. In fact, because of the excellent rating of our local volunteer fire department, our area saves millions on home and business insurance. Last, but certainly not least, our local Boy Scout troop volunteers for just about everything.

Mentone neighbors working together make our town a great place to visit and live. The diverse, creative and friendly-natured folks who inhabit the Mentone area give it an unparalleled spirit. This spirit is what makes Mentone such a great place to live.

Thanks to all the volunteers who make Mentone an exciting and safe place to work, play, worship or just kick back and enjoy life.

Mayor Rob Hammond

Linda worked as the office manager at Camp Laney for many years. She always came to work in a great mood. She was incredibly organized and kept everybody straight! Linda had a great sense of humor and helped create a fun work environment. She enjoyed working with the counselors (if they showed up in the office and their personal appearance needed some attention, she informed them of the need for improvement before they left!). She became close to the young men who worked year round.

Over the phone Linda was wonderful with the camp parents and got to know many of them. She knew all the vendors and service people who worked with the camp and they enjoyed visiting with her in the office.

Linda's love of life and people was contagious. Her community spirit and energy are unequalled. The best way to celebrate Linda's life would be to continue these legacies.

My boards may be a little creaky and my paint a little flaky but I am full of life. I continue to open my doors to the young and the wise so my walls are full of joy, laughter and learning.

MERF has the fortune of enjoying the presence of many in the community house as they participate in programs and events offered by MERF. Grateful for the joy of having Linda Brown support MERF and be an active volunteer and participant in many events especially book club, ballroom dancing and after school tutoring. Mentone has lost a giving and active community member. The MERF board is thankful for her life and for her giving life to her daughter, Carol Hazell Brown that was a long time board member and treasurer before retiring to help take care of her mother. Rest in peace Linda. Thank you for enriching the learning and living of our community in Mentone.

Thanks to Steve and Kelly Leavitt for bringing a special presentation of the Throat Singers from the Republic of Tuva, called Alash (www.alashensemble.com) to the Moon Lake Elementary Students. The kids were fascinated with their style of singing and their unique instruments. Ms. Paula had prepared them for the different sounds and presentation. The Leavitts were surprised at the transformation of the Moon Lake Gym from the first time they saw it during MERF’s Taste of the Mountain and Art Auction as a Parisian sidewalk café. It is amazing to see the many talents on this mountain.

In this season of leaves changing colors, we know change is good. The MERF board constantly strives to seek the best ways to accomplish the mission of “enriching the learning and living of the community by identifying needs and coordinating resources”. So in June, MERF made some changes. The new MERF officers are Kristen Emory as President, Bill Berry as Vice President, Kathy McMunn as Secretary and Roland Hendon as Treasurer. Sarah Wilcox is the Executive Director. The MERF board is also supported by Walt Pullen, Lea Long, Joyce Smith and Linda Lawton. At a recent brainstorming dinner, the board discussed resurrecting some former fun classes such as Spanish and ballroom dancing and starting classes such as ACT prep, cooking, CPR and GED. Cannot wait to see what might come to fruition. If you would like to volunteer, please contact Sarah at merf.mentone.com.

Thanks to everyone that came by MERF’s booth at Colorfest. Hope you are enjoying your “Leave Me in Mentone” shirts, caps and fleeces. Thanks to MAPA for putting on another wonderful Mentone Festival!

In this season of Thanksgiving, MERF is more than thankful for all of our volunteers, supporters, program recipients and the wonderful Mentone community.

MERF’s Sue Henry scholarship applications are due December 1st for any Mentone/Valley Head resident needing financial assistance with spring semester in college or a technical school. Applications are available by email MERF.mentone@gmail.com or from Kristen Emory.

MBA Member

We’re going to highlight another of our MBA members this month and are planning more in future months in The Groundhog. This month we highlight Jeff Rymer of Southern Style Log Furniture on the South side of Highway 117 just down from the flashing light. He’s been in that location for about 5 years, and you’ll find him there on weekends year around. When not there, he’s working in his shop/home in Cloudland, Georgia, with his brother Tim. With Tim’s help, Jeff puts together some really amazing furniture, usually made from cedar logs. They do everything from beds to swings to tables and chairs, plus some unique smaller items. You can see examples of his work on his website at www.SouthernStyleLogFurniture.com.

So, how did all this woodworking start? Well, Jeff says he was born in Cleveland, Tennessee, and has had the “building bug” since he was about 18. He had always tinkered with wood and hoped that someday he might make a living with woodworking. When he got out of school, however, he needed to get a job that started paying right away, so ended up in the auto business in Michigan for about 18 years. Near the end of those years, he began to get a strong urge to get back down south, spend more time with his parents, and maybe again do something with wood. His “opportunity” came when the bottom fell out of the auto industry, leaving him without a job and deciding that was a perfect time to return to Cleveland.

In Cleveland, Jeff had a close friend named Jerry Wilson that also shared a love of doing things with wood. Although Jerry is more of an artist than a builder, they shared a common interest in making use of various types of wood found around them. Jerry told Jeff about this great little town named Mentone on Lookout Mountain in Alabama and how he thought Jeff’s furniture might work great for some of the log homes around Mentone. Jeff had been to several places, like Gatlinburg, Tennessee, and Helen, Georgia, looking for a location to try opening a furniture shop, but had decided that they were a little too crowded and commercial for him. When he visited Mentone, he was immediately impressed with the slower pace, friendly people, and artsy-craftsy feeling in the town.

When the shop next to the Hitching Post became available, Jeff jumped right in and rented it. For a few years, he continued to live in Cleveland and commute to Mentone on weekends. His friend Jerry often came along and eventually put some of his artistic wood creations in Jeff’s shop. He also was available to keep the shop open on those occasions when Jeff got furniture work out of town or wanted to stay in Cleveland for a weekend to finish a project. Then, a few years ago, Jeff found a house in Cloudland, large enough to allow him to do his woodworking and close enough to Mentone to relieve him of his weekly commuting trips.

Since moving closer to Mentone, Jeff has gotten a little more involved in local activities, working with MAPA on occasion and helping form the Mentone Business Association. You’ll generally see him helping out at the festivals and volunteering when his furniture business allows him the time. He’s staying very busy with the furniture and has had several great out-of-state projects as well as many for local residents. It’s very satisfying to be able to make a living from doing something that you really enjoy, and that’s definitely the way Jeff feels about his woodworking.

Future plans? Yes, he has some. Long term, he’d like to be able to open shops in other locations, like Gatlinburg, Tennessee and Helen, Georgia, to have more opportunities to show his work. He’s becoming fairly well-known in the log furniture business and has high hopes of seeing his furniture in other southern locations. He’d also like to be able to train others in the business to share some of the discoveries he’s made in working the log furniture for as long as he has. For the moment, however, he pretty well has his hands full keeping up with the business here in Mentone. No matter what the future brings, he considers Mentone his home where he’s made some really great friends and where he plans to keep his home base regardless of where else he might expand his business.

And that’s our MBA member highlight for this month. Our next MBA meeting is the 3rd Monday of November, the 17th, from 6pm to 7pm at the MERF House and you’re all invited. As we’ve said several times, join us, contribute your ideas, and help us help the local businesses to be as successful as possible.

Mentone Wedding Chapel

Nestled in the woods atop Lookout Mountain, near Mentone, Alabama, this quaint little chapel is surrounded by ferns, forest and flowers. The chapel is a scaled version of traditional Appalachian churches of days gone by. Stained glass windows filtering soft forest sunrays and soft organ music accent an ambience fitting the wedding ceremony. Inside, wooden pews will seat approximately 60 guests.

Linda Patterson, owner of the chapel, said the idea for it began with a bell, and now that bell rings as for it began with a bell, and now that bell rings as it began with a bell, and now that bell rings as a scaled version of traditional Appalachian churches of days gone by. Stained glass windows filtering soft forest sunrays and soft organ music accent an ambience fitting the wedding ceremony. Inside, wooden pews will seat approximately 60 guests.

Happy Thanksgiving everyone!! CHAMPS would like to say “Thank you!” to all who have helped with and supported fundraisers associated with Valley Head students. I know the youth league, band, athletes and others have been raising money. “Thank you” to those who help by volunteering, working, cleaning and everything else it takes to advance our school and help our students. Also, thank you to those who came to our October meeting. Tiger CHAMPS will be meeting the first Monday of each month at 6pm in the new gym. Everyone is welcome to attend. At our October meeting, we recognized several achievements by VHS students. “CONGRATULATIONS” to the following:

- Randy Cook - Spelling bee winner
- FCCLA - Blue Ribbon for booth at the fair
- All 40 new Beta Club members

We really enjoyed hearing the VHS volunteer band led by recent graduate Dan Smith. This is his 3rd year as volunteer director. The school last employed a band director in the 2009-10 school year. Dan's mother, Lesa Smith, is a bus driver for the school and serves as the school employee sponsor. We are working with the band to start a booster club and to encourage administrators to hire a band teacher that would be more available to the students so that concerts and competitions would be possible. Also, because there is not a full-time music teacher, the school is ineligible for a number of grants and scholarships for the program. Additionally, they are unable to play or march on the football field and all playing must be done from the bleachers and is limited to home games. They are grateful for the opportunity just to play, but a half-time program would be enjoyed by all as well as making a nice impression on guests. Thanks to successful fundraising, the band has been free so far for students, which is a wonderful statement to be made. They do not have uniforms, but have been able to purchase matching t-shirts which does give them a unified look. Some children have no interest in sports or academics--the band provides an incentive for them to stay in school. The students in the band have really enjoyed practicing and playing. They have learned a great deal--about music and about working together. For more details about the band, to help out, or if you have information that could be useful, you can call Lesa at 256-605-5404, text or leave a message for Dan at 256-717-7703, or visit and like the new Facebook page for Valley Head High School Band!

Moon Lake Elementary School Annual Harvest Festival is November 1

Moon Lake Elementary School will host their Annual Harvest Festival this year on Saturday, November 1, 2014. This family friendly event is always a community favorite. Bring the kids down for lots of kids games, local entertainment, tons of raffles, a hula hoop contest and of course, the infamous hay ride! There is no better way to break in the fall season than a good old fashioned hay ride. Bring your jackets and snuggle in the hay with a blanket for a fun ride in the neighborhood. The cafeteria will be open serving BBQ plates, and the concession stand will have all of your favorite concessions available. Doors open at 4pm with free admission, but please remember to help support your favorite class! Raffle winners and class winners will be announced around 7pm. All proceeds from this event go to Moon Lake PTO. Please come out to this family fun event and show your support for our historic "little" school with strong community involvement.

I do not know where to start. I have not written in a long time but for good reason. It's as hard to say as it is to write but here we go....

MY CHICKENS ARE DEAD.

That is right. I just said it, wrote it, out loud in black and white. They are dead. All my babies that I raised from Tractor Supply to the chickens I rescued. Not just dead but MURDERED, MURDERED in cold blood.

Monte is known to be a dumpsite for dogs and cats that people no longer want. Well, a stray dog came into our lives. My dogs kept him out of the yard, but soon the Yellow Dog made friends with my dogs and wormed his way into our yard. One day I noticed that my two black chickens were gone. No feathers anywhere. No black chickens. I suspected a raccoon or possibly that Yellow Dog?

I put the other girls in the coop and locked them in for safekeeping. If you remember for several years my chickens have roamed free on our three acres with my four dogs keeping them in for safekeeping. If you remember for a few days if you can get out of bed and go to bed; with the real possibility of the covers over your head in the middle of the night. Do any of you have to just go to bed? I don’t mean go lay down. I mean get in the bed, pull the covers over your head in the middle of the day and go to bed; with the real possibility of staying there for a few days if you can get out of bed.

They were in prison and I had put them there. I had made them know what it was like to be free. I let them out… Mistake.

I came home the next day to a pile of feathers in the yard. I lost it! I took off my Ugg boot throwing it wildly at my two yard dogs. Right there in my front yard, in my socked foot, I proceeded to pitch one big fit. The kind of fit you hope no one is witness to. I suspect that was likely not the case. While respectfully not making reference to my melt down Tom was suspiciously able to locate my boot with very little effort. In my heart I knew Luke and Max had not killed my chickens but I knew they had let it happen. They had let that Yellow Dog into our lives and let it eat my chickens.

Yes….I cried. I was angry, sad, and could not find my favorite chicken anywhere. I knew she was gone! I loved all my chickens but I had one that stole my heart. She followed me everywhere, met me at the car, rode the mower with me, I bathed and blow-dried that bird, and she even came inside and watched TV with us. This was no ordinary chicken; she did not know she was a chicken. She was Favorite Chicken. She separated herself from the rest of the girls and spent most of her time with me, or waiting for me to come outside to be with her. This was bad, really bad. She was my girl and I was her chick. I cried for Favorite Chicken.

Do any of you have to just go to bed? I don’t mean go lay down. I mean get in the bed, pull the covers over your head in the middle of the day and go to bed; with the real possibility of staying there for a few days if you can get out of work.

Well, that is exactly what I did. I went to bed with the covers over my head. The kids got home from school and I could hear them asking what was wrong with me. Tom told them about the chickens and that I was most upset because Favorite Chicken was dead. I could hear Saddler say, “Favorite Chicken? Favorite Chicken is not dead. She’s in the rose bushes.” I jumped up, ran outside, calling my girl and she came running! It was special, almost a movie quality reunion. Reunited ya-a-yaah…

But….only for a few days. That murderous Yellow Dog returned and got her. Favorite Chicken was gone.

I went to bed, again.

Some time later I pulled back the covers and got out of bed.

The chicken coop had been moved--towed down the driveway on loan to the neighbors. Mostly for my mental wellbeing, my family decided that we needed to take a break from chickens. While I do miss my girls, I have to say I agree. My dad, Jim, still has the two Trade Day Buzzards (chickens) that I tend to on occasion when he is out of town.

I have experienced few things better than sitting out in the yard and watching my chickens peck and scratch about. This Chicken Lady is chicken no more and will raise chickens again one day. But not now. Now I have to raise my new puppy--a white, one-eyed miniature poodle named Mike Wazoski, who by all accounts is a hot mess and likely will provide many tales we can share together.
Remember When . . .
By Angie Carden

The Groundhog did a four part segment of The History of Mentone in 2007. The segments were excerpts from Nelda E. Howe's book, The History of Mentone, Alabama. The fourth and final segment was printed in the November issue, and the first paragraph read:

“Mentone was a thriving summer resort from 1884 to 1924. Besides the Mentone Springs Hotel were Windward Inn, Riverdale Lodge, Riverside Hotel, DeSoto Hotel, Chimney Corner Inn, and Nippersink Lodge. All are now closed except the Nippersink Lodge.

Five miles south of Mentone is DeSoto State Park, established in 1934. Thomas Berry, brother of Martha Berry, donated several hundred acres to the state for park purposes after Milford W. Howard had headed a movement to obtain a park in this area. The park contains 4,869 acres of the picturesque interior of Lookout Mountain. A stone lodge with 150-capacity restaurant, cabins, motel-lodge complex, picnic areas, playgrounds, and swimming pool are available to visitors of the mountain.”

The segment went on with her writing of all the camps, churches and the falls. When I was reading the article, I began to think just how gorgeous and inviting our little town truly is. I have lived here for 42 years and I would never want to be anywhere else!

Anyone interested in past issues of The Groundhog can purchase them for $.25 per issue. We have issues that date back to the original issue published in April 1983. Please mail your requests to The Groundhog, P.O. Box 387, Mentone, AL 35984 along with your $.25 per issue requested plus $2.50 for shipping. All issues will be sold on a first come, first serve basis. If you have any questions, or would like to pick up issues, please call us at 256-465-1107.

LET ME MANAGE YOUR CABIN FOR YOU - Ron Waits
Happy Thanksgiving!

We made it through Halloween and Candy! Candy! Candy! Now it’s November and the beginning of the Holiday Season. I love Thanksgiving (and not just because of the food)! I love this time of year when families get together and just relax around the table and we all have those delicious meals that, for some reason, we only have one time a year! The air is crisp and smells like Fall, the leaves are still falling, and the grocery stores are full of wonderful holiday items! I have said hundreds of times that I am not a baker, I am a cook! Measuring stresses me out! But the smell and feel of Autumn put me in the mood to bake…or at least in the mood for sweets! I decided to do the simplest recipe ever for pumpkin. I am a huge fan of pumpkin. I love it baked, in a casserole, in a pie, as a shake, and I love pumpkin pie spice in my coffee! So let's make a smoothie :)

Pumpkin Smoothie

Freeze a 15-oz can of pumpkin in a muffin tin, covered with foil. When frozen, add 4 discs to a blender with:
3 c of milk, ½ c vanilla yogurt (can be replaced with half-n-half and 1 tsp vanilla) and ¼ tsp of ground cinnamon. Blend until completely smooth. And if you’re in the mood, add a dollop of whipped cream and some crushed graham crackers to the top of each glass and call it Pumpkin Pie!

Happy Thanksgiving and Happy Cooking!

The Echota Cherokee Tribe of Alabama spent Saturday at the Children’s Festival sharing education about their tribe. Kids enjoyed pony rides, pumpkin bowling, glitter tattoos and cookie decorating. The dunking booth took festivalgoers to a new level of "cool!"

The “Taste of Mentone” kept everyone from getting hungry by offering some of the best cuisine in the south! Food vendors filled the need for carnival food with treats such as fried cheese cake, funnel cakes, kettle corn and freshly squeezed strawberry lemonade.

The Mentone Business Association (MBA) introduced a free family-friendly scavenger hunt that led participants all over town in search of clues that offered a treat with each one found. If you completed the game, you qualified for a drawing. The winner of the $50 cash prize was Stacey Smith from Hayden, Alabama.

Scarecrow Holler returned this year with some very creative themes. Festivalgoers were allowed to vote on their favorite scarecrow and the Moon Lake Beta Club’s “Pumpkin Stop” won the People’s Choice Award earning money for the club. First place went to Amanda Pope’s “Headless Horseman” and second place went to the Wildflower Café’s “Restaurateur”.

Conratulations to these winners and thank you to all who participated.

We also enjoyed some fantastic fall displays set up by many businesses that participated in the Pumpkin Patch Jubilee decorating contest. Those winners were Mentone Market with first place, Art Gallery @ Mentone winning second place and the Wildflower Café taking third place. Congratulations winners and a big thank you to all businesses that decorated!

Colorfest would not be possible without the help of our volunteers and the support of our sponsors. MAPA would like to take this opportunity to say Thank You, Thank You, Thank You.

To our sponsors, thank you for supporting us and making our festival successful. Sponsors: Jet Polymer Recycling, DeKalb Tourism, Skelton Orthodontics, Mentone Realty, Custom Home Designs, Kamama Gallery, Wildflower American Rust

HISTORIC CHURCH SEEKS HELP

St. Joseph’s-on-the-Mountain Episcopal Church, whose origin is an 1870 log cabin, now finds that its present building has serious problems. Its foundation is unsound, its walls admit moisture and vermin. This small church finds itself facing a repair bill of $200,000. The active congregation of 35 members wants to preserve this Mentone icon for worshipers and tourists but cannot do it alone.

The church asks those who would like to help, please send your checks to St. Joseph’s-on-the Mountain, P.O. Box 161, Mentone, AL 35984, with a note that it is for the Church Renewal Fund.
The Life and Legend of Granny Dollar

By Will Dillard

What constitutes a legend? According to the dictionary ’It is a story in which a kernel of truth is embellished to an unlikely degree’. This I believe is a good description of the legend of Granny Dollar.

This is the 4th in a series of articles published in The Groundhog. I will attempt to separate fact from fiction and maybe provide some new information to the many Mentone residents who know most of the story.

After 40 years of mourning, Nancy finds love. When Nancy moved her family back to Alabama after the civil war, probably around 1867, she was 41 years old and mourning the death of Thomas Porter, her fiancé. Research is unclear to determine if she moved back to Sand Mountain or immediately settled on Lookout Mountain. She returned to farming and gave this account of her life during that time in one of her interviews.

I plowed the patches of all the neighbors for several miles; they done their own hoein’ an’ made enough to live on.

Madge Cole come to my house with five chillen, her man had been killed in the war and they didn’t have a bite to eat. I took ‘em in and kep’ ‘em fer three years. I gave her a piece of garden to tend every year, an’ I plowed and she hoed it.”

During all of her interviews and many others by people who knew Nancy during this time, there is no research to indicate how she met Nelson Dollar, but after 38 years of mourning the loss of her fiancé, (she states she was 79 when they married in 1905) Nancy finally found love.

It has been reported in other articles about their marriage that Nelson was much younger than Nancy; but based on his birthdate of Nov 2, 1831, he would have been 74 years old. They probably lived a subsistence life of farming but as with most that lived during that time there are not many records of their lives.

They were married for 18 years until Nelson’s death on April 26, 1923, at the age of 92 which is remarkable for the time period. Nancy has stated that she sold her cow to buy a tombstone for his grave. At his death, Nancy was 97 and once again on her own and, according to her, alone. Nelson Dollar did have two sons that reportedly did come by to visit on occasion. She stated in a 1928 interview that all of her brothers and sisters were dead.

Interviews with local residents who knew Nancy, who was now called Grandma Dollar or Granny Dollar, have indicated that she once lived in what is known locally as the Oliver Place and also at the Leonard Reece Place, near Cloudmont next to the Tutwiler Place. Local residents would stop by to see her and bring her food.

Shortly after Nelson’s death and fearful that she would be sent to the county poorhouse, she walked several miles to the Master Schools property where the boys and staff at the school moved her into one of the cabins on the school property and proceeded to care for her.

In the next article…. The Master Schools, Meeting Col. Howard, and life there.

The Rhododendron Garden Club

The Rhododendron Garden Club met at the MERF House on Tuesday, Oct 14. Several members were ill or out of town, so the addition of visitors, Dee Kelley and Brenda Cox, were greatly appreciated. Dee Kelley has decided to join the club. Hooray and welcome!

Martha Wood was pretty much a one-woman show: she hosted, called the meeting to order, gave the meditation and the horticulture report. Using beautiful plants from her yard Martha had four table arrangements. The first contained Clare Curtis, Ryan Pink and Sheffield mums; another used yellow narrow leaf sunflowers; the third with reds of Salvia coccinea, cardinal flower and pineapple sage and the fourth had purples of Aster tataricus, Wild Ageratum, Canothus with tansy foliage. Martha is the Master Gardener in our group and is the go-to person for horticulture. Dianne Kuehl gave the Treasurer’s report and a brief business meeting was held.

How to honor Linda Brown was the major topic of discussion. She was one of the early members, Secretary and Historian of this club. She started a Jr. Garden Club and worked with the youth for years. Her meticulous notes for the VFW Flower Show eased the way for the new Secretary to take over. During the last year, Linda’s presence was limited at the meetings, but she still wrote the article for The Groundhog. The month before her passing, she typed and printed all the information for the Educational Exhibit at the Fall Flower Show. She was a treasure, and we will miss her.

Mellanie Tuttle gave the program on terrariums – the history and how to make one. Dr. Nathaniel Ward, an amateur botanist, discovered a bit of grass and a fern spore on his roof) experimented with plants, placed cases in rooms around his house, (even one on his roof) experimented with plants, light and water and in 1842 published his findings in the book On the Growth of Plants in Closely Glazed Cases. The book can be read online and is fascinating. (archive.org/details/ongrowthplantsi00wardgoog)

At his death, Dr. Ward’s fern herbarium housed 25,000 specimens. The Wardian cases enabled the growth of new plants. Before the cases, plants from foreign lands would seldom survive the harsh conditions at sea. With the enclosed cases, plants could be left on deck to receive sunlight and the condensed moisture kept them watered but protected from the salt spray. In 15 years of using the Wardian cases, the Kew Garden had imported six times as many plants than had been imported in all of the previous century! India’s tea trade was started with over 23,000 young plants and over 17,000 germinated seedlings sent from China. The Wardian case became more stylized and enabled the growth of ferns and orchids in the polluted cities of Victorian England.

The modern terrarium should be a miniature landscape with a bottom layer of gravel, grit, pebbles, or stones. Thickness of the layers depends of the depth of the container; ½ to 1 inch will usually be enough. Next is a layer of sand, topped with a layer of activated charcoal. The pebbles and sand allow for good drainage and the charcoal keeps the water fresh and prevents mold and bacteria from accumulating. The last layer is a pre-moistened mixture of 2 parts soil and one part sand. Soil should be deep enough to support the roots of the plantings. Light low, high humidity plants like ferns, mosses, and baby’s tears work best. Add accessories such as rocks, figurines, and furniture to truly make a miniature landscape. Place the terrarium out of direct sunlight. If too much condensation, remove the lid for a little while. If plants are looking dry, add water. My favorite terrarium houses Partridgeberry and mosses. I used Pipsissiwa but it likes a dryer environment so it did not survive. Experiment like Dr. Ward and discover the joys and satisfaction of miniature landscapes.

Excuse us while we brag a little about the successes of the tiny but mighty Rhododendron. The Garden Club entered the new Scarecrow Contest Category by the VFW and our “Garden Lady Scarecrow” placed second and received not only a red ribbon but money as well. (No fundraisers this year, whoo hoo!) The theme this year for the Flower Show was “At the Hop” so 50’s attire was the dress for the day! Lots of poodle skirts, rolled up blue jeans and tennis or Oxford shoes. It was fun to be a ‘bobby soxer’ again! DESIGN Division: In the Novice Class, Marsha Merrell placed 3rd and Peggy Roark placed 2nd. This was Peggy’s first design ever. We’re looking forward to what she enters next year! Martha Wood received three seconds in design. Mellanie Tuttle had a rainbow of colors, one yellow (3rd), one red (2nd) and one blue (1st). Her entry in the Class OP ART, titled “All Shook UP” also won the Designer’s Choice Award and then was given the Award of Design Excellence, which is the top award in the show. HORTICULTURE Division: Martha Wood was the big winner here, receiving six 1st and two 2nd and bringing home the Sweepstakes Award which is given to the person with the most firsts. Marsha Merrell had two 1st, five 2nd, and one 3rd place for her entries and Mellanie Tuttle had two 1st, four 2nd and one 3rd place. The club’s Educational Exhibit “Gardening for Pollinators” received the Blue Ribbon and the Educational Exhibitor Top Exhibit Award! Come join us, learn about horticulture and flower design and by the fall you can be ready for the Flower Show adventure!

People of all ages can enjoy a truly unique experience by taking a step back in time to learn about this Depression-era program that developed DeSoto State Park and other parks all over the U.S.A.

DeSoto State Park was developed by the Civilian Conservation Corps in the mid 1930s to early 1940s, and was known as State Park #5. All the hard work and effort of the Civilian Conservation Corps is still visible in many places throughout DeSoto State Park and the local community today.

DeSoto’s CCC Museum was made possible with a $10,000 state tourism grant in late 2011 and was dedicated on April 19, 2013. The museum is located in the “Contact Station” located at the original entrance to DeSoto State Park on Country Road 618. (2 miles from DeSoto’s Country Store)

Museum is open Saturdays & Sundays thru the end of November. 12:00 noon-4:00 p.m. For more details, visit the website at alapark.com/DeSotoResort/CivilianConservationCorpsMuseum/

_by Doug Kiker_

There is a phrase - “Where I come from” - then the story goes on from there.

It could be anything from splitting rails to cutting hair.

My granddaddy liked to tell stories; even told one about a bear.

The art of storytelling is sadly fading, I declare.

Good story telling never changes - unlike the clothes we wear.

Or the way we do our hair.

In some ways, it would be better to be like folks of old.

Their words are pure gold.

Put away computer games and things of that sort.

Sit down and listen and maybe even take a ‘snort’ - stories of pilgrims, princes, or maybe things that happened in a fort.

Maybe you can listen while doing the dishes.

My granddaddy always said, “The older the tale, the bigger the fishes.”

I guess what I’m trying to say,

Pay attention to your heritage, it’s sure to pay.

Patchwork Beauty: Food for the Soul and Health for the Body
By L. C. Moon

As I observe the dogwoods, it is interesting to contemplate its symbolism and many practical uses. The blooms of dogwood are revered to depict the crucifixion of Christ because the blooms are in a cross formation with symbolic bloodstains at the end of each petal and a thorny crown-like image at the blossoms center. Dogwood flowers are also medicinal and were used by the Native Americans to achieve a soothing tonic effect on the body and stomach similar to chamomile flowers. Native Americans, civil war soldiers and homesteaders chewed dogwood twigs for white clean teeth and used the splintered dogwood twigs as a natural toothbrush. The dried bark is the most commonly used medicinal part of the tree, best known to aid in subsiding malarial symptoms.

The fall foliage of sourwood soon follows the dogwood’s change in color. The deep green sourwood leaves turn a shade of deep red or deep purple and occasionally bright yellow leaves will scatter along the branches. Sourwood is sometimes referred to as the honey tree because its late summer blooms provide sweet nectar for the honeybees to make a wonderful rich honey. You will find sourwood lining the roadsides and woods of Lookout Mountain often appearing to curve or lean at an angle to one side making it easier to reach its fresh green leaves in the spring and summer. I chew on the green leaves to quench my thirst when I am thirsty and venturing through the wooded trails. I pull off a leaf, check for bugs and chew but I usually do not swallow the leaf. The tart lemony kick instantly activates my saliva glands and a spring in my step. To curve or lean at an angle to one side making it easier to reach its fresh green leaves in the spring and summer. Mountain Herbalist (cont’d from page 21) remedy for fever, rheumatic fever and indigestion. Oak comes in a multitude of fall colors though mostly ranging from deep red to a reddish brown. Oak is known to have been a staple of civilizations past and present for building homes, furniture, barrels and medicine. The inner bark of the limbs of both red and white oak are known as a wonderful folk remedy, used as a poultice/compress for skin disorders and rashes such as poison oak, eczema and psoriasis. It is also known to be a styptic (slows bleeding), and the tea is said to counteract poisons such as an accidental ingestion of poisonous plants or snakebite venom.

The trees are God-given gifts for us to appreciate, aid in our healing and use as a muse for art or metaphors for literary works as they are compared to life, love, family, strength and spirituality. The beauty of trees inspires awe and a wonderful feeling in artists and observers but I wondered, “What is it scientifically that causes the beautiful patchwork display?”

I found that when the cool weather ushers in and then fewer hours of sunlight are available, the trees respond by stopping the photosynthesis process of making food, and as a result the production of chlorophyll stops. Chlorophyll is what provides the green color to the leaves. Pigments called carotene and xanthophyll create the yellow and orange color in the leaves. These pigments are within the leaves year round but masked by the chlorophyll and made visible when the chlorophyll production ends. The red leaves contain anthocyanin but this isn’t present throughout the year; instead, it is synthesized during the breaking of the chlorophyll. Anthocyanin pigment is said to protect the leaves during lower temps as well as protect the leaves from sun damage in order to aid the tree in keeping its leaves longer. The longer the tree keeps its leaves, the longer it can acquire nutrients.

I get excited learning and observing the miracle of nature as it beautifully transforms around us here on the mountain. Winter waits its turn but until then I am enjoying the sights and sounds. The leaves continue to sooth me as they swoosh and dance on their branches, then twirl through the air falling gently to the ground. I love feeling like a kid walking barefoot through the new fallen leaves and feeling them crunch beneath my feet, especially before it gets too cold. I hope you are inspired to relax and breathe in the crisp mountain air of fall. I also hope I have helped expand your love for the trees of Lookout Mountain and your awareness of the utility, joy and health they can bring. May your fall bring a bountiful harvest of blessings and beauty.
