The "Biddle" home was built circa 1910 on East River Road in Mentone by Jack and Alice Biddle. It is a handsome and comfortable Craftsman home which originally sat on almost 40 acres, situated across the road (at the time just a sandy lane) from the west fork of Little River. The current property is 24 acres, about half of which is wooded, with 90 feet on the river.

In 2016, while Jennifer and David Booker were touring the home with real estate agent Heather Nicely, she mentioned that they were in "the apple room." The couple’s attention was piqued by this reference. Heather explained that the Biddle family had an apple orchard, and that Mrs. Biddle traditionally stored the apples in a room adjacent to the kitchen which the family always called "the apple room."

These were like words of poetry to the Bookers' ears. David’s long-time desire to create his own apple orchard seemed one step closer. The couple purchased the home and, with the help of their three young adult sons, have made the renovations necessary for the house to remain strong in the 21st century.

On a recent hot and sunny August afternoon, the Bookers graciously hosted a visit with two of the Biddles’ descendants—granddaughter Jacqueline Biddle Porter (daughter of Jack Biddle, Jr.), who turned 96 years old in May, and her daughter, Jill Porter Gray. Jacqueline and Jill were raised in Birmingham, but often visited the family farm in Mentone. Their memories of the time they spent in Mentone are rich and varied.

Jacqueline and Jill had driven from Birmingham to discuss the history of the Biddle family and farm with The Groundhog. They arrived with a sheaf of papers to share, which included the original land grant to Peter Olsson in 1902. John “Jack” and Alice Biddle bought the land in 1910.

Jack Biddle was born in Birmingham, England, in 1862. After serving in the British Army for two years, he emigrated from Liverpool to the United States in 1883, spending a week in steerage on the Nova Scotian, which sailed into Baltimore.

He met his brother, Jim, who had sailed on an earlier ship to New York. Two months later, the brothers connected with their parents, who had sailed to New York accompanying sisters Alice and Polly Frost, the fiancées of Jack and Jim, respectively.

After Jack and Alice were married, the couple moved to Birmingham, Alabama ("Perhaps because the name was the same as their hometown," suggested Jacqueline), and they had five sons and two daughters. Jack worked at Birmingham's Sloss Furnace for a while after his arrival, as did Jim. He eventually became widely known in athletic circles in Birmingham, where he taught and refereed boxing.

Mentone Matters • by Mayor Rob Hammond

Recently I viewed Mentone: Where Little River Runs. It is really, really well done. Holley Midgley and his team did an outstanding job on Mentone’s bicentennial project. A lot of Mentone history is shared and preserved. It runs 88 minutes and can be found on YouTube (enjoy with popcorn!).

The town will partner with DeKalb Tourism when work is complete on the visitor center side of the town’s new building across the highway from Town Hall. The plan now is for Kayla Worthey to be there on Fridays. The town will seek volunteers to be there on Saturdays.

By the next issue of The Groundhog, the town hopefully will have finalized plans for the restaurant side. Five really good proposals have been presented to the council.

As the sun sets,
the Lady Sky
lets the soft blue robe of day ease gently off of her shoulders and slip slowly down and around her ankles and she becomes the night.

Mentone Area Preservation Association

by Mark Hoffman

I can feel it. Fall is coming! I hope everyone had a wonderful summer, and all the kids are back in school just bubbling over with excitement for the new school year. Our best to all the teachers and administrators at Moon Lake School—thanks for all of your hard work and dedication.

You will be reminded over and over I’m sure, but here it is again—please mark your calendars for October 19 and 20: Colorfest! Sharon Habin is working extremely hard (as usual!) to coordinate and put on the best festival possible. I know she needs volunteers. If you are able and willing, please contact her to see what may be needed and how you can help. It truly is a community event. See page 4 for details.

Here’s hoping your AC is idle, and windows are being flung open to let in the early fall breeze. It’s a special time of year, so enjoy!

Mark Hoffman is president of the Mentone Area Preservation Association.

Coming soon to a mailbox near you

by Holley Midgley

The 88-minute documentary, “Mentone: Where Little River Runs,” is completed, and in early September, people with post office or mail boxes in the Mentone postal area will receive a complimentary DVD copy. Funded entirely by grants, with no town funds, the program is being distributed free of charge.

If you don’t have a local mailing address, you can obtain a copy by either stopping by Mentone Town Hall on weekdays, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped ($.70—more if you use a larger envelope) 6”x9” envelope in care of Kristen Emory, Town Clerk, P. O. Box 295, Mentone, AL 35984. A limited number of these complimentary DVDs will be available while supplies last. The program has been uploaded to YouTube; you can find it at bit.ly/mentonefilm.

This project was supported by grants from the Alabama Humanities Foundation, a state partner with the National Endowment for the Humanities; The Mentone Area Preservation Association (MAPA); the Menlo-Tillotson Foundation; and the Alabama Bicentennial Commission.

September in Mentone’s history... Compiled by Annette Peteck

In connection with the town’s centennial celebration during the week of October 13 of this year, a Mentone Museum is being established at the front room of the Hitching Post. Citizens are asked to bring to the museum all items they think will have a historical interest.

1987
Beginning September 1, the Mentone Springs Hotel will enter the second phase of its restoration. Work to complete the west wing of the hotel has begun.

1988
Acting on a tip, Mentone Police Chief, along with officers from other agencies including the Alabama Bureau of Investigation, seized, harvested, and destroyed marijuana worth in excess of 1/4 of a million dollars. The plants were up to 14 feet tall and were found around Mentone. The ABI used a helicopter to spot the fields of marijuana and directed the search.

1991
Mentone Area Preservation Association will begin circulation of a petition this month requesting GTE telephone operations to include phone calls to Ft. Payne under local services for Mentone, Valley Head and Hammondville customers.

1998
Moon Lake Elementary School boasts its largest enrollment ever. 150 students in Kindergarten through 6th grade, plus 21 Head Start students.

2002
The movie, Southern Heart, which was filmed in Mentone and the Little River Canyon area, is now available on video for $19.95 per tape.

Leslie Bunch is Enjoying Her Retirement by Kelly Leavitt

“We’re going to China for two weeks!” Leslie and Jim Bunch are looking forward to their overseas trip this fall. After Leslie’s retirement from Moon Lake School in June of this year, the couple is looking forward to their adventure. “Thankfully, we’ll be on a tour, because it would be a little daunting to go on our own,” she said.

The structure of her days has changed since her retirement began. “I go to aerobics in the morning and then I take care of errands or relax until it’s time to head up to Moon Lake, where I’m working with the after-school students. It’s been a good weaning process, because I love everybody there,” she said.

Leslie taught 6th grade at Moon Lake for about 21 years, after having also taught at other DeKalb County schools and in North Carolina. She was hired by Dr. Bill Berry, who was Moon Lake’s principal at the time. The two had been classmates in junior high at Valley Head School.

“I love it when I see my students after they’ve left Moon Lake,” said Leslie. “They always come up and give me a big hug. I was always thrilled when my students were the children of former students.”

“I always liked to keep a television in my room. I’d keep an eye on the news, because when something was happening that related to our studies, we’d learn more with the real-world situation. Mud slides, hurricanes, tornadoes—you name it. In 6th grade, we study Earth Science, so the live action was really valuable.

“We watched 9/11 unfold as it happened, and we were able to discuss it together. I said, ‘OK, you all are reporters, so write what you see.’ It was a great exercise,” she recalled.

Leslie said the biggest change she’s seen over the years is that the students are reading better. “The teachers are all doing a really good job, very fine-tuned,” she said.

Her 6th-grade students have had some of the top scores in the county and last year they scored 88% in math, which might be the highest score in the state, she said.

The Bunches moved to the area from North Carolina, where Leslie’s husband Jim had been working. Her parents owned Winston Place in Valley Head, so they were happy to be closer to family. The couple continues to operate the popular bed and breakfast which is housed in one of DeKalb County’s oldest structures, an ante-bellum house that was used as a hospital by Union soldiers during the Civil War. Their son, Jeb, went to Moon Lake during 5th and 6th grades. As a teenager, he completed his Eagle Scout project at Moon Lake, when he painted the United States map that is on the drive in front of the school. The map was repainted last year by board members of the Little River Arts Council, ensuring it will live on, as will the legacy of Leslie Bunch in the lives of her students over the past two decades.

Annual Tour of Homes & Silent Auction by Anne McLeod

The Little River Arts Council’s annual Tour of Homes and Silent Auction will be held on October 26 and 27, from 10 a.m.–4 p.m. on Saturday and 12–3 p.m. on Sunday. Funds raised from the sale of tour wristbands and the concurrent silent auction allow the Arts Council to fund community art activities throughout the year, including the Summer Music for the People series, the Creative Spirit Market in November, and the Linger Longer Pop-Up Art Series.

The tour showcases the community’s natural beauty, while promoting local artists and highlighting the wide variety of architectural styles on Lookout Mountain. Historic homes on the tour are the Berry House, including the watercolor studio of homeowner John McFarland, Hank and Susan Van Apeldoorn’s residence and guest house in the heart of Mentone, plus The Farm at Little River Orchard, known as the Biddle Farm, built by Jack Biddle over 100 years ago (see page 1).

Some of the featured homes are recent builds, such as a tiny home owned by Amanda Massa that was installed in August on acreage east of the Mentone town limits. Another newer home belongs to Nelson and Vickie Burger, who used local builders and crafters to create a serene cabin on the brow that they consider their “peaceful and happy place.” Roscoe Johnson used traditional rock construction to make the most of his cottage’s setting on the river.

Two very special places on the tour are Marsha and Phil Hurt’s The Farm at Windy Hill and the second floor of Mentone Inn Bed and Breakfast, owned by Mike Campbell and managed by Cynthia Stinson. The final line-up for the tour is still being finalized so more homes may be added soon.

Artists will be set up at many of the houses with displays and items for sale. Artists interested in participating can email Wil Henry Cobble at wilhenry@mac.com. You do not have to be a member of the Arts Council to participate.

The Little River Arts Council will sell weekend passes for $10 for LRAC members and $12 for non-members at the town’s new community building at 5951 AL Highway 117, directly across from Mentone Town Hall. While buying your wristband, check out the silent auction of artwork by local artists and other donated items.

Be sure to visit the Little River Arts Council’s website at littleriverartscouncil.org or our Facebook page for more information about this year’s Tour of Homes and Silent Auction.

Anne McLeod serves as the board secretary for Little River Arts Council.

Little River Orchard Takes Root by Kelly Leavitt

David Booker is a man who knows apples. “We’re from North Carolina, which is a big apple growing state,” he said. “Several years ago, I attended a 12-week apple production course at NC State University.” The result: David is a master pomologist. (Pomology is the science of growing fruit; the word is derived from the Latin word for fruit—pomum.)

In 2016 and 2017, the Bookers transplanted 35 third-year dwarf apple trees that started bearing fruit this year. 750 apple trees were grafted and 600 were purchased from a nursery in 2018. This year, they have installed wildlife fencing, installed the wire trellis, and installed a drip irrigation system. In all, they have planted one acre with 1,050 dwarf apple trees in a high-density configuration. “Phase 1 is complete,” said David. Little River Orchard, LLC, was incorporated in August of this year.

“With modern apple farming, you plant apples almost like row crops,” he explained. “They’re put on a dwarfing root stock, so they only get 10 feet tall. The rows are 12 feet apart and the trees are three feet apart.

“One of our key values is environmental stewardship,” said David. “When you buy apples from, say, Peru, they spray the apples with pesticides—a chemical cocktail—every other day. They broadcast fertilizer and it all runs off. They’re not thinking of the environment at all.

“New ways of growing apples are to plant a high-density orchard with disease-resistant varieties. We incorporate Integrated Pest Management, or IPM. We monitor the trees for pests—insects, fungus, bacteria. When we see those things, we specifically treat for that. We do use fungicides, but we identify a disease before we start spraying.

“We have a few hard cider trees, but most of our trees are dessert apples—fresh market apples that you can eat out of hand. The honeycrisps and Jonagolds are ripe now, as well as some early Fujis,” said David. The varieties that have been planted at Little River Orchard include Pristine, Williams Pride, Sundance, Galarina, winecrisp, Fuji, Jonagold, Zestar, honeycrisp, and Pink Lady. They are also testing Liberty, Scarlet O’Hara, Goldrush, and Bella apple varieties, Primacane blackberries, and heirloom tomatoes.

The Bookers’ long-term vision is a family-friendly “you pick” orchard with apples, blackberries, tomatoes, pumpkins, and Christmas trees.

Summer is over and September is here, which means lots of activity at the MERF House! August brought the start of school at Moon Lake Elementary School so MERF provided lunch to the entire staff on August 5, as they were preparing for the new year. Then on Saturday, August 17, a fabulous car show and fundraiser to support our beloved, community school was organized by Gail Chambers, Milton Chambers, John O'Rear, and Chuck O'Rear on the MERF walking track, with the grill going to feed all the hungry car enthusiasts. An amazing selection of door prizes and raffle items were donated by local businesses. With 36 vehicles on displays and active bidders, these Moon Lake School enthusiasts raised $1,500, of which MERF receiving $500 for school programs. What a wonderful community that supports our Moon Lake School! Though I can barely differentiate between a Chevy and a Ford, I walked around the car show and enjoyed learning about the vehicle owners and their pride and joy.

Volunteers needed! Want to make a difference in the community? MERF has two volunteer opportunities working with the school. MERF is seeking weekly tutors on Tuesdays from 3-4 to tutor Moon Lake students. The minimum commitment is to work with a student every week until December, though staying until the end of April would be great. Snacks are provided, as well as tutoring tools. This is a great way to get to know a local student well. Subs are also needed if you can’t commit to every week. A new opportunity is providing support to the teachers by coming to the school every Thursday or Friday and doing tasks such as copying, organizing, and laminating. Depending on the availability of volunteers, this may be a bi-weekly or monthly commitment. The teachers work hard, so let’s give them some support. Contact Sarah if interested.

Best day ever in September is Wednesday the 18th because the MERF house will open its doors for another season of senior lunches! Fall lunches will be served at 11:30 a.m. followed by fun, singing, and entertainment up until November 20, with a Christmas party in December. This is also a great opportunity to support the community if you want to provide a meal—just contact Sarah.

And guess who celebrates a birthday in September?! MERF turns 26, so let’s celebrate the group of visionaries that began dreaming what MERF could be in Mentone! Thank you for the many ways everyone supports MERF through your actions, words, and finances. MERF is ever grateful. Love seeing that use of the walking track has increased—get out there and walk. Thanks to Walt Pullen for keeping the grass in great shape all summer. MERF moms meet on Thursday mornings at 10 a.m. Please join the moms and under-4-year-olds for a fun time.

Two New Park Rangers at Little River Canyon
by Betsy Dillbeck

This summer, Matt Switzer and Kaleb Kleiss-Hoeft joined the staff of the National Park Service at Little River Canyon National Preserve as Interpretive Park Rangers.

Switzer comes to Little River Canyon from Whiskeytown National Recreation Area, Whiskeytown, California, where he held the Interpretive Park Ranger position since 2012.

Kleiss-Hoeft had worked for Gulf Islands National Seashore as an intern since 2017, in interpretation, and will work with Switzer as a seasonal Park Ranger through the Pathways Program as he works on his master’s degree.

The position of Interpretive Ranger at Little River was formerly held by Larry Beane, who retired in 2018 after 26 years in that position. Beane was well known for his Archaeology and Geology workshops and tours, and kayaking tours on Little River.

“Larry was an institution,” said Switzer, “and we’re so happy he is open and sharing about his work in primitive skills, and the other workshops and tours. I hope to take the best of Larry and with Kaleb’s and my skills and interests provide many new programs for all our visitors and those who regularly use the Canyon for their recreational and educational exploits.”

Switzer explained the role of an interpretive ranger as establishing the communication process, through which meanings and relationships of the cultural and natural world, past and present, are revealed to a visitor through experiences with objects, artifacts, landscapes, sites, exhibits, and people.

Switzer’s other duties at the preserve include public information officer, interpretive media creator, VIP (Volunteer in Park) coordinator and program scheduling manager.

Switzer is already at work designing a new Junior Ranger patch and revising the Junior Ranger program booklet. “I want it to be more engaging and a little more specific to our Preserve,” he said.

He is also working on a Bark Ranger tag and program. “Since we are a dog friendly park, I hope to establish a checklist of pet-related safety dos and don’ts and incentives to enjoy the park with your pet,” said Switzer. “My goal is to bring greater diversity to the preserve, blending the historic and natural resources together for a greater experience in visiting our preserve.”

Among the many interests that bought Switzer to Alabama and this area was his love of carnivorous plants. Little River Canyon National Preserve is home to the carnivorous “pitcher plant.” It is his plan to study the plant and help be a steward of this rare species. Among Switzer’s other interests are photography, kayaking, hiking, mountain biking, astronomy, and all things outdoors.

“Every chance I get, I try to hike or drive a different section of the Preserve, just to get familiar with the wildlife, terrain, and special spots a visitor would enjoy, and determine what parts of the preserve we can bring to the visitor in more depth,” said Switzer.

Kleiss-Hoeft is a Florida native with a passion for rock climbing, kayaking and history. When he was in the 7th grade, his family took a year off and toured the United States, stopping at most national parks. “I saw a ranger rappelling on the face of Teddy Roosevelt at Mount Rushmore, and I decided then I wanted to be a park ranger,” he said. He sought out an internship at Gulf Islands while an undergraduate student at the University of West Florida and worked there for two years.

“I love history and was very involved in the Civil War reenactments and black powder small arms and artillery. Fort Pickens was part of the Gulf Islands and I did Civil War-era living history interpretation programs,” said Kleiss-Hoeft.

Kleiss-Hoeft also conducted kayaking tours and programs there and in his leisure time, pursued his love of rock climbing, eventually securing his certification as a rock-climbing instructor from the University of West Florida. “I have been checking out all the places for rock climbing in the canyon and hope to develop a program where we can have rock climbing workshop,” he said.

He hopes to stay in the National Park Service while he studies for his M.A. in International Relations and Global Security. His long-term goal is to run for political office.

With the rich Native American history in the Canyon area, both Switzer and Kleiss-Hoeft hope to develop educational programs for school field trips and hikes that revolve around the Native American presence and resources in the Canyon.

“We’d like to present a melding of the history, geography, geology, wildlife, and cultural assets of the Canyon and the area,” they remarked.

Switzer was especially encouraged by the current programs and school field trips offered by the staff of Jacksonville State University Field Schools, who own and occupy the Canyon Center. “By partnering with them in our program development and strengthening our community outreach, we hope to attract many more visitors, surrounding residents, and school groups to the preserve,” commented Switzer.

Head Ranger Valerie Saferite said, “We are really excited to have them both on board. Each one has a unique skill set and when we combine that with Larry’s legacy, I have confidence the outcome will be fantastic.”

Betsy Dillbeck is a retired newspaper publisher and editor living in Fort Payne.
The Groundhog Garden Club held its monthly meeting in the MERF House at 10 o’clock, Tuesday, August 13. Hostess Dee Kelley provided refreshments and Madelon David read “Garden Meditation” by the Reverend Max Coots. This meditation expresses thanks for the variety of people in our lives, and compares them to the bounties of the garden, like “loving friends, who wind around us like tendrils and hold us, despite our blights, withers and withering.”

President Marsha Merrell called the meeting to order. For roll call, we were asked to mention something we could enter in September’s flower show. The group brought (or mentioned) sunflowers, basil, ivy, zinnias, terrariums, and dish gardens.

For the Horticulture report, members Martha Wood and Sharon Harris brought in a collection of late summer wildflowers they found around their properties and along their roads. Martha identified them for us, a lovely collection of orange-fringed orchids, black-eyed Susans, mountain mint, trefoil, aster, mountain beauty, cardinal flower, monarda (bee balm), butterfly weed, liatris, blanket flower, swamp milkweed, and one of the 13 species of goldenrod found in DeKalb County. The flowers made a beautiful bouquet and reminded us to keep an eye out on the roadside for these gifts of nature.

Member Jan Wilkinson encouraged us, in her Conservation report, to consider the definition of conservation through physics: “the principle by which the total value of a physical quality or parameter remains constant in a system which is not subject to external influences.” She used a flower arrangement as an example, where “the application of the senses… sight, smell, touch and sound…in an arrangement of live materials in a static container represents conservation values in a way we perhaps have not thought of previously.”

We went on to discuss old business and expressed our appreciation to member Dee Kelley, keeper of the Post Office garden, for her work on keeping the flowers looking so healthy and pretty. Not easy work, we realize, with the lack of rain we’ve been experiencing lately! One of the members mentioned she noticed a group of people taking pictures in front of the flower garden; a compliment to any gardener indeed!

Discussion continued and focused on the upcoming flower show at the DeKalb County Fair, September 23 to September 29, at the VFW Agriculture Fair Grounds in Fort Payne. This year’s chairman is our own Mellanie Tuttle, who has already put in countless hours in preparation for the show. This year’s theme is titled “Oh, the Places You’ll Go!” based on Dr. Seuss and his wide array of fun-filled children’s books. Divisions and classes within each division of the flower show are cleverly titled after a Dr. Seuss book and can be used for inspiration for the designs. For example, what type of construction design might I come up with from “The King’s Stills,” (which I signed up for) or what type of Illuminary design might come from “There’s a Zap in my Lamp?” For the August program, Mellanie reviewed the criteria for each class of designs and gave us hints on what materials we can or cannot use to have the design qualify for entry and a ribbon. She also reminded us of a design practice session at the VFW Hall on Friday, August 23. Open to all area garden club members, this session served as an opportunity to play with flowers and materials in order to inspire the muse and learn the don’ts and do’s of flower show design.

The flower show also gives us and other garden clubs an opportunity to educate. This year, for our educational booth, we’ll create a display of the different types of floral design techniques; ways to tie materials together (plant and otherwise); methods to create a mass, such as clustering, layering or grouping; samples of braiding, weaving, and wrapping. These techniques are only a few that add a touch of the unique and professional to each design.

Marsha, Mellanie, and Martha encouraged us all to submit something for the show. If flower design doesn’t sound appealing, there are many other possibilities. Name the tree, flower, shrub, herb, terrarium, dish garden, container plant, or hanging plant, and it’s most likely listed in the 13 sections and 103 classes of horticulture available to enter. Not a garden club member? No worries! The Horticulture part of the flower show is open to everyone. It’s a great opportunity to show off the efforts you’ve made in your garden this year. Children can participate, too, in the additional 27 classes available for pre-school up to 17 years old. We would love to see Mentone represented at this year’s fair! As Dr. Seuss might say, “Something for everyone, everything for all….”

Our next meeting on September 9 will be held at the home of member Honey Ennis, where her husband, Dr. Larry (Doc) Ennis, a Master Gardener, will discuss raised bed planting and koi ponds.

Lunch & Learn

Join the DeKalb County Master Gardeners for a Lunch & Learn program on Thursday, September 5, from 11:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.

Christy Igou-Brandon will present “Julia, Edna and Alice: Cooking with the Seasons,” featuring recipes and tips from Julia Child, Edna Lewis, and Alice Waters. There is no cost. Bring a friend and a sack lunch and you may win a door prize. Master Gardeners will provide drinks. The program will be held at Fort Payne’s Coal and Iron building at 500 Gault Ave., NE.
The past few weeks have been busy with events and visits from supporters of the Mentone Arts & Cultural Center (MACC) to the planned building site of the facility. These include a ceremonial groundbreaking of the planned sculpture garden and tours by a U.S. congressman and the executive director of one of Alabama’s largest charitable foundations.

The ceremonial groundbreaking took place in late July as representatives of the Community Foundation of Northeast Alabama joined board members of the Mentone Arts & Cultural Center along with Alabama Sen. Steve Livingston and Mentone Mayor Rob Hammond for the event. The foundation awarded the center a $10,000 Open Spaces Sacred Places Grant to construct the garden, which will be named after Dr. Stephen Brewer of Fort Payne, thanks to a generous donation from his family.

The garden will feature a bench from the foundation honoring the legacy of Susie Parker Stringfellow and a sculpture of Sequoyah, the creator of the Cherokee syllabary. Artists Carl McCleskey and Betsy Scott donated their sculpture work on the statue. The sculpture forms, done by Sandra Comley, were recently transported to a foundry in Sarasota, FL, where they will be cast in bronze. A reception was held following the ceremony.

In August, U.S. Congressman Robert Aderholt toured the building site with his wife Caroline and met with MACC Board President Ben Shurett, Executive Director Randy Grider and Mayor Rob Hammond. He also was given an overview of the plans for the center.

Rep. Aderholt has represented Alabama 4th Congressional District since 1997. He is a member of the powerful House Committee on Appropriations, which has jurisdiction over funding the operation of the federal government. He serves as Ranking Member of the Subcommittee on Commerce, Justice and Science and also serves as a member of the Agriculture and Rural Development Subcommittee and the Defense Subcommittee.

In June, Maria Kennedy, executive director of the Daniel Foundation of Alabama, the third largest charitable foundation in the state, visited the MACC site. Last year, the Daniel Foundation awarded MACC a $40,000 challenge grant.

We appreciated all our supporters who share our vision of building a regional arts center to promote the arts, local artists and arts education. Donations can be made “In Memory” or “In Honor” of a loved one or a distinguished citizen. There also are naming opportunities for various parts of the facility.

Randy Grider is executive director of the Mentone Arts & Cultural Center. He can be reached via email at mentoneartcenter@gmail.com or by phone at 256-674-3366.

Well, it is true, folks—we have completed our first month of the 2019–2020 school year (thankfully) back at Moon Lake Elementary School. We have had a few adjustments to make but to me, it has been a great start and is going to be another great year.

My summer was filled with lots of fun student-related activities. During the first two weeks of June, the students and I were painting and crafting at summer school. The week of “Transportation” at summer school was a wonderful time to introduce the children to American artist Edward Hopper and his paintings of boats, trains and bridges. On our trip down the Tennessee River aboard the Southern Belle, we were all excited to see a tramp steamer just like the one they had completed in art class.

On June 20, during Alabama’s Teddy Gentry’s “Singing with the Stars” Contest, rising Moon Lake fourth grader, Addison Lee, took to the coliseum stage at Northeast Alabama Community College and wowed the audience with her musical talent. What a joy, as her teacher, to see her talent grow in leaps and bounds.

I, once again, had the privilege of working at Camp Laney, as the “Craft Cabin Lady” this summer. What a joy it is to reconnect with so many returning campers! I love it when they come running into the craft cabin, as glad to see me as I am them.

As soon as camp was over, I headed to Nashville for a teacher workshop and a visit to the Frist Museum to see the Frida Kahlo and Diego Rivera exhibit. I have always been so amazed at the perseverance Frida Kahlo exhibited throughout her life, surviving polio as a youngster, then almost losing her life in a school bus accident at age 18. Frida suffered the rest of her life from her injuries but never gave up and continued to paint for the rest of her life, even when it meant sitting in a wheelchair at her easel to paint. Perseverance is a quality I would love to see every Moon Lake student have in their art, and one I plan to teach using Frida Kahlo as an example.

Until next time, from the Fine Arts Classroom…it is wonderful to be back.

Paula Easter is the Fine Arts teacher at Moon Lake Elementary School in Mentone.

“Handle with Care: Preserving Your Family Papers and Photographs” with Jim Baggett

There are many basic and inexpensive things you can do to ensure that your family letters, scrapbooks, and photographs are preserved for the future. Learn the fundamentals of home archiving from Jim Baggett at a free presentation on Monday, September 16, at 6:30 p.m. at Moon Lake Community Library.

Topics covered include:
- common threats to documents and photos, including mold, mildew, humidity, rodents, and insects
- supplies needed to preserve papers and photos and where to purchase those supplies
- advantages and disadvantages of scanning your papers and photos.

Librarian Jim Baggett is the archivist for the Birmingham Public Libraries and the City of Birmingham. He and his family live part-time at their home on Little River near Mentone. Jim is the author of two books about Alabama history: Alabama Illustrated—Engravings from 19th Century Newspapers and Historic Photos of Birmingham. This winter, he will present a program about the 1918 influenza outbreak in Alabama, which has a Mentone connection.

Claud Christopher "Chris" Bence, Jr.
April 15, 1947 - August 17, 2019

Claud Christopher "Chris" Bence, Jr. passed away on August 17, 2019, after a brief battle with cancer. Born to Claud C. Bence and Julia Blalock on April 15, 1947, he spent his growing up years in Abbeville, AL. A 1965 graduate of Abbeville High, Chris had a love of radio and even as a teen, became a DJ at the Abbeville radio station.

Chris’s career was varied and notable as the voice of several radio stations but he found his true passion building the powerful FM 95 WTVY in the 70s and 80s as a DJ, programmer and general manager. Some will also remember Chris as a weatherman on WTVY-TV and a cohost on the Morning Show. Politics came calling and he had the privilege of serving Governor Fob James in two terms, as press secretary in the first term and as executive liaison in the second term. Chris also served as chief of staff to Attorney General Troy King during his term. After retirement, Chris and his wife, Charlene, traveled extensively; having completed their goal of hitting the road and not just visiting, but exploring all 48 contiguous states and Canada. A move to Lookout Mountain in Mentone in 2017 allowed the beauty of nature to refresh them in between trips. To continue to love and cherish Chris are his wife, Charlene; son, Jason Bence, Naples, FL; daughter, Lori Bryson, Smyrna, TN; grandchildren, Skylar and Savannah Cagle, Smyrna TN; sister, Priscilla Johnson (Max), Woodstock, GA; brother, Bill Bence (Paige), Smith Station, AL; brother-in-law, Steve and Cindy Heath; grandchildren, Shawn Fleck and Ashley Breeding; great-grandchild, Mariah Jade Rogers; nieces, Terry Casse1man and husband Jim; and grand nephews, Nick Casselman and Cody Casse1man.

Donations to memorialize Blanche and J.R. Bledsoe may be made to the Shriner’s Children’s Hospital Fund, c/o Alhambra Hospital, Chattanooga, TN 37421-3701.

Survivors include his wife, Charlene Bence; son, Ladon Willingham (Donna); daughter, Wendi Willingham, Bartow, GA; and grandchildren, Lindsay Bledsoe-Willingham, Bailey Kirby, and Kori Willingham; sisters, Glenda Williams, Joyce Brown, and Debbie Baty (Billy); and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his parents, Gene and Ruby Willingham.

Mr. Ralph Eugene Willingham
October 17, 1944 – August 9, 2019

Mr. Ralph Eugene Willingham passed away on August 9, 2019. He is survived by his wife, Irene Blalock Willingham; son, Ladon Willingham (Donna); daughter, Amy Kirby (Preston); grandchildren, Caitlin Kirby, Kenzie Willingham, Bailey Kirby, and Kori Willingham; sisters, Glenda Williams, Joyce Brown, and Debbie Baty (Billy); and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his parents, Gene and Ruby Willingham.

Survivors include: many special programs at the Opera House; reclamation of the Willstown Mission Cemetery; reclamation and archaeological excavation of the Spirit the Preacher cabin site; and many spectacular Hunt Hall exhibits. Her last major ongoing project is the ongoing reclamation of the Battle site.

It is fair to say that Olivia had an impact on everyone she met and all those who had the opportunity to work with her. Her contributions to Landmarks are epic. Her passion for and encyclopedic memory of DeKalb County history will be forever missed. —Randy Cochran

J.R. Bledsoe
March 10, 1952– August 4, 2019

J.R. Bledsoe, age 67 of Valley Head, passed away Sunday, August 4, 2019, at his residence alongside his wife, Blanch. Mr. Bledsoe was born in Greenville, TN, on March 10, 1952, to the late William H. and Della Bledsoe. He was a truck driver for Kerr Redi Mix.

Mr. Bledsoe was a member of Fort Payne Masonic Lodge #437 and Valley Head Masonic Lodge #394; was currently serving as District Lecturer of District 11 (DeKalb County) of the Alabama Grand Lodge; Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Mason of Alabama; past presiding officer of the Gadsden York Rite Bodies; Alabama Priory #31 KYCH; Red Cross of Constantine; the DeKalb County Shrine Club; and the Alhambra Shrine Temple, where he was very active in the transportation unit.

Mr. Bledsoe is survived by his daughter, Nadara Bledsoe-Brock; son, Chad Bledsoe; brother, Sam Bledsoe (Sharon); sister, Suzette Bledsoe; and grandchildren, Lindsay Bledsoe-Chritton, Derek Brock, Alexis Bledsoe, and Dominic Bledsoe.

Blanch Elizabeth Bledsoe
August 27, 1943– August 4, 2019

Blanch Elizabeth Bledsoe, age 76 of Valley Head, passed away Sunday, August 4, 2019. Mrs. Bledsoe was born in Ohio on August 27, 1943, to the late Charles Melvin and Terecia Poole Snively. She was a homemaker and was a huge supporter of her husband J.R. in attending numerous masonic and shrine functions.

Mrs. Bledsoe is survived by her son and daughter-in-law, Steve and Cindy Heath; grandchildren, Shawn Fleck and Ashley Breeding; great-grandchild, Mariah Jade Rogers; nieces, Terry Casse1man and husband Jim; and grand nephews, Nick Casselman and Cody Casse1man.

Survivors include: many special programs at the Opera House; reclamation of the Willstown Mission Cemetery; reclamation and archaeological excavation of the Spirit the Preacher cabin site; and many spectacular Hunt Hall exhibits. Her last major ongoing project is the ongoing reclamation of the Battle site.

It is fair to say that Olivia had an impact on everyone she met and all those who had the opportunity to work with her. Her contributions to Landmarks are epic. Her passion for and encyclopedic memory of DeKalb County history will be forever missed. —Randy Cochran

Billie Sue Wade Harper
May 2, 1933– August 24, 2019

Billie Sue Wade Harper, age 86 of Valley Head, passed away peacefully on Saturday, August 24, 2019.

She is preceded in death by her parents John Thomas and Minnie Jacoups Wade, four sisters (Josephine Wade, Evelyn Brown, Johnnie Ruth Tucker, Ida Hawkins), brother Charles Wade, her twin sister Bobbie Jean Wade Broyles, grandson Gabriel Harper, son David Harper, and her husband of 63 years Floyd R. Harper.

Billie was a woman of many talents. As a baker, she made countless wedding and special occasion cakes for many years. She also worked alongside her sister Bobbie at the Valley Head lunchroom and the kitchen at Camp Skyline. She was an avid gardener and a member of local garden clubs. She loved quilting and spending time with the Stitch-R-2 quilting club. She leaves behind her sons, Michael, Wade and Mark Harper, and daughters, Rebecca Barrier and Heather Jackson, along with nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Olivia Baxter Cox
May 15, 1945– August 14, 2019

Olivia Baxter was born to Frances Cochran Baxter and Wayne Oliver Baxter on May 15, 1945. She passed from this life on August 14, 2019.

Both sides of her family have a long history in DeKalb County. Brothers James and Willis Baxter were reputed to be the first white settlers who moved to Wills Valley and coexisted among the Cherokee. The Cochranes moved to DeKalb County in 1875. That long history might have had some influence on Olivia’s love of and passion for the history of our county.

A great-granduncle on the Baxter side of her family, J. R. “Pap” Baxter, was a Gospel singer, teacher and prolific Christian music writer who built the largest gospel music publishing business in the world.

A great-granduncle on the Cochran side, Lucian Cochran, was probate judge when the first courthouse was built in Fort Payne. His name is on the cornerstone from that courthouse, on display at the Depot Museum. He also built the grand Victorian house across the street from the current courthouse, which Randy Owen now owns.

Olivia attended public school in Fort Payne, graduating in 1963. She attended Auburn University, where she studied art. After marrying and raising children, while living in Alabama and Texas, she returned to Fort Payne in the early 2000s to take care of her aging mother.

She joined Landmarks of DeKalb County in 2004 and became an involved and important member of the organization. Her amazing knowledge of Cherokee and other history of the county was legendary and unparalleled.

Olivia spearheaded several significant projects for Landmarks including: many special programs at the Opera House; reclamation of the Willstown Mission Cemetery; reclamation and archaeological excavation of the Spirit the Preacher cabin site; and many spectacular Hunt Hall exhibits. Her last major ongoing project is the ongoing reclamation of the Battle site.

It is fair to say that Olivia had an impact on everyone she met and all those who had the opportunity to work with her. Her contributions to Landmarks are epic. Her passion for and encyclopedic memory of DeKalb County history will be forever missed. —Randy Cochran
St. Joseph’s Sacred Garden Labyrinth Workshop
by Kat Griffith

t. Joseph’s on-the-Mountain Episcopal Church in Mentone is very grateful to be able to invite the community to our Sacred Garden to experience the new labyrinth. A labyrinth workshop will be held at the church on Saturday, September 14, at 10 a.m., followed by guided labyrinth walks and a time of reflection in the gazebo. We plan to complete the workshop by 12:30 p.m., but invite anyone who would choose to linger and process their experience, either by themselves or with the help of our trained guide. There are many benches in shady and restful spots in which to journal, if you so choose.

The workshop will be led by Mary Ellen Calhoun, ME, who has been a labyrinth facilitator for 22 years. She was Veriditas-trained in San Francisco, CA, by Dr. Lauren Artress, who is responsible for a resurgence of the ancient practice of walking meditation on a labyrinth. Mary Ellen lives in Birmingham and has been instrumental in the reworking of the outdoor labyrinth at St. Luke’s Episcopal Church in Birmingham, an indoor canvas labyrinth at St. Luke’s, and the labyrinth in the woods of Camp McDowell.

We are very grateful to host Mary Ellen, who will help us all glean the most from our personal encounters while prayerfully walking the paths of the labyrinth.

If you would like to prepare by reading ahead of time, Mary Ellen suggests two works: Walking a Sacred Path: Rediscovering the Labyrinth as a Spiritual Tool, by Dr. Lauren Artress, and Labyrinths, Journeys of Healing and Grace, by Zara Renander.

Please call St. Joseph’s on-the-Mountain Episcopal Church at 256-634-4476 to secure a reservation. This will help our presenter be prepared for each of us. Also, feel free to call with any questions concerning the event.

Labyrinths through the Ages
by Annette F. Reynolds

The labyrinth seems to have emerged in cultures worldwide during times of change. There has been a revival in the use of labyrinths today possibly due to the instability, anxiety, conflict and uncertainty in which we find ourselves in this new millennium. The labyrinth offers all, regardless of political, social, ethnic, religious background, a place to be centered and connected.

In her best-selling book, Walking a Sacred Path: Rediscovering the Labyrinth as a Spiritual Tool (1995), Reverend Dr. Lauren Artress, grandmother of the labyrinth movement in the USA, invites communities to create labyrinths as part of a new paradigm to address modern-day issues. Her vision is to “embrace a new vision of spiritual maturity that values ethnic, cultural, and gender differences, supports creativity and the work of Spirit among all forms of life, what is needed for the global family to survive in the twenty-first century.”

“Going around in circles” might mean getting nowhere, wasting time, unless those circular paths are within a labyrinth. Walking the circular paths of the labyrinth can offer a powerful blessing—a gift from the heart of the Creator for wholeness and transformation. Famous Oglala Lakota holy man, Black Elk described that everything the power of the world does, is done in a circle. The design of the labyrinth is a circle, a three-dimensional mandala, with which we can be a part and have direct experience.

There is a difference between an ancient labyrinth and a modern maze. The Greek word “labyrinthos” describes any maze-like structure that has only one single path. Over time, there has been a natural progression from ancient earth labyrinths, to medieval Christian church labyrinths, to modern mazes. Because of today’s movies and video games, the word “labyrinth” is often misunderstood. Mazes are designed to engage the thinking mind. They can have many paths and contain dead ends. Labyrinths, on the other hand, have a center, which can be seen and is reached by a single path. There are no tricks or dead ends. However, like the journey through life or the spiritual journey, we might feel lost, but we just enter and take one step at a time. The non-linear pattern itself is designed to quiet the mind, which allows us to focus internally and let intuition and creativity flow. Some say that focused attention is the same as love.

History

The labyrinth is an ancient design found in almost every culture and religious tradition dating back thousands of years. The ancient seven circuit/path, classical, or Cretan labyrinth is the most common pattern in the world. These labyrinths are found in Bronze age petroglyphs of Egypt and Greece and in Africa, India, Afghanistan, Sri Lanka, Sumatra Java, Native North and South America. They were usually constructed on the ground and have been used for protection, often due to the instability, anxiety, conflict and uncertainty in which we find ourselves in this new millennium. The labyrinth offers all, regardless of political, social, ethnic, religious background, a place to be centered and connected.

marking sacred places. It is believed that these designs known as the Golden Mean, Phi, Fibonacci sequence or Divine Proportion evolved out of universal patterns found in nature, creating beauty through harmony and proportion. Our fingers, bodies and faces follow this mathematical ratio, as well as flower petals, seeds, pinecones, shells, hurricanes, galaxies and DNA molecules. When applied to a design, this mathematical ratio is considered the most pleasing to the eye.

The earliest Christian labyrinth dates to the fourth century. Like many of the stories in Jewish and Christian scriptures and in classical writings, the labyrinth represents a journey, the hero’s journey, a pilgrimage. During the 12th and thirteenth centuries, labyrinth were used in many Gothic cathedrals of Europe as symbolic pilgrimages to the Holy Land. When the crusades made travel too dangerous, the faithful would come to the cathedrals and following the footsteps of Jesus, walk labyrinths, the center of the labyrinth being the New Jerusalem. The most famous medieval labyrinth is located outside of Paris, France at the famous Notre Dame (Our Lady) of Chartres Cathedral, which for thousands of years has been a popular place for pilgrims, as well as tourists.

The labyrinth revival in the U.S. took two parallel tracks. In 1991, the first church labyrinth was painted on canvas initiated by the Reverend Dr. Lauren Artress, who was serving as Canon of Special Ministries at Grace Episcopal Cathedral, San Francisco, CA. She sensed that there was a need for centering and focus, a spiritual hunger to move out of the world of words. She also saw a need to find the sacred in nature, embodying the mind, body and spirit. Since that time, her primary focus has been on creating replicas of the eleven path, site specific 42’ by 42’ medieval stone labyrinth inlaid in the floor of medieval Chartres Cathedral. Rev. Artress currently heads the nonprofit Veriditas, which means “greening power,” coined by Hildegard von Bingen, best known for composing sacred music.

A parallel movement emerged when an international group of 40 naturalists, historians, artists, educators, authors, engineers, researchers, and spiritual leaders organized and met for several years and formed another nonprofit, The Labyrinth Society (1998). One of their first projects was to raise the funds to update and translate from German the 350 pages with 750 illustrated photos, Through the Labyrinth: Designs and Meaning over 5,000 Years, written by internationally renowned art historian, Hermann Kern (1941-1985). This is the most comprehensive compendium of research ever to be published on labyrinths.

Since then, thousands of labyrinths have been co-created. Sponsored by The Labyrinth Society and Veriditas, the World-Wide Labyrinth Locator was launched in 2004 as a labyrinth database with over 5,800 known labyrinths in more than 80 countries. In Alabama, there are 31 public labyrinths listed.

Ways to walk and use labyrinths
There are many ways to use the labyrinth and there are no right or wrong ways to “walk” one. We can go through with childlike abandon or walk mindfully. The setting and atmosphere surrounding a labyrinth depends largely on its intended use. There are several parts of the walk which mirror the therapeutic, healing process. Before we enter, we might take a few breaths and reflect on our life and what brought us to the labyrinth. Each walk is different, a snapshot in time. As we journey to the center, the labyrinth provides a container where we can release, let go. The center is a place of quiet rest, to listen, receive. Often the center helps us feel centered. We walk out on the same path that brought us in, often empowered, with a renewed awareness to face life’s challenges.

Many say that walking a labyrinth calms the body and mind. It can be used as a grounding and problem-solving tool and as a stress reducer. The alternating left/right, clockwise/counterclockwise directions of the labyrinth path can create a balancing, relaxing, yet vitalizing motion. The labyrinth can be used as a walking contemplative or prayer path, a centering prayer, a body blessing. Some people dance, sing, drum in labyrinths. The labyrinth is a two-way path, so we might meet others coming or going. Just like in life, do what feels natural and respect self, others and the site.

The walk can also be a shared journey, which can unify vision and promote community involvement. Communities are using the labyrinth as a tool to foster unity by inviting everyone to walk the path together, as a symbolic act of community cooperation to bring people together on “common ground.” A community could address, commemorate, or celebrate an event or day like New Year’s Eve Walks.

Indoor, outdoor labyrinth have been created with various materials and used in a variety of public, private and religious settings. Labyrinths are shared with different faith groups and can be used for weddings, baptisms, communion services. Other settings include schools, camps, retreat centers, recovery meetings, hospitals, mental health centers, shelters, city parks, gardens, museums, spas, memorials, mental health centers, prisons, convents, conferences, and columbarium.

The labyrinth can connect us to an ever-expanding global consciousness—it is a synthesis of every consciousness-raising movement for which I have been involved: the Human Potential Movement, Peace, Civil Rights, Environment, Women’s Rights, Human Rights, Women Spirituality, and Indigenous People’s Rights. None of us travels alone—we are an interconnected and interdependent family. At the eye, heart, hand, and ground level, we connect individually and collectively, as pilgrims on a path.

Cloudland 5K Fun Run, Barbecue & Yard Sale

We at Cloudland Community Park would like to say a huge THANK YOU to everyone who helped make our 4th Annual Star-Spangled 5K Fun Run a success! We are so thankful for all of the sponsors, volunteers, and participants who helped with this event.

Labor Day Gospel Fest

The Cloudland Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring a Gospel Fest on Labor Day, September 2, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Eastern time at Cloudland Community Park. There will be gospel singing, open mic gospel music, and Bobby Cavin’s famous barbecue. All sound equipment will be provided. Barbecue plates will be $10. All proceeds will benefit the Fire Department in completing construction of the new building on Highway 157.

Burning Leaf Festival

Cloudland Community Park’s annual Burning Leaf Festival will be held on Saturday, October 26, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Eastern time. There will be vendors, food and live music. Come join us for a fun time.

Cloudland Neighborhood Watch Meeting

The meeting was held on July 26 at 6 p.m. at Cloudland Community Park. It was sponsored by Cloudland Volunteer Fire Department and Cloudland Community Park. There were approximately 38 people in attendance. Josh Powell from Chattooga County law enforcement and Josh Summerford from Cherokee County presented a film on Neighborhood Watch Programs and answered questions. The main takeaway was for everyone to keep their eyes open and report any strange or unusual activity. Call 911 in case of an emergency or, for non-emergencies, call 706-857-0750.

Menlo Bake and Yard Sale

September 13 & 14

Menlo Housing Authority is sponsoring their yard and bake sale on Friday and Saturday, September 13 and 14. It will be located at Menlo’s Lawrence Center from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. Eastern time.

Anyone interested in participating should bring their sale items or baked goods to the Lawrence Center on the day of the sale. All proceeds go to supporting the Housing Authority programs, which include the Veterans Marker Program and the Reading Buddies Program.

Menlo’s Reading Buddies Program begins September 19 at 9:30 EDT

Reading Buddies is a program sponsored by the Menlo School and the Menlo Housing Authority. Menlo students are paired with volunteers from the Menlo Community. They meet once a month at the Lawrence Center in Menlo. Each month they select a book for them both to read. The books are supplied by Menlo School. Both students and volunteers love reading and discussing their books and getting to know each other. This year, Reading Buddies begins on September 19 at the Lawrence Center at 9:30 a.m. Eastern time and will continue every third Thursday for the rest of the school year. This year, there will be 46 fifth-graders from Menlo School. More volunteers are needed. Anyone interested should contact Glenda Hamilton at 706-862-2240 or email menlohousing@windstream.net.
River Voice by Bill Shugart

Hello, River Family! It’s another day in paradise. As I am reflecting on the incredible summer that is fading fast, I feel really encouraged about the condition of Little River. At the end of August, SwimGuide season came to a close. Over 15 weeks, we collected 172 water samples at 13 strategic points each week throughout the Little River Watershed. We do all of this to help keep you aware of the water quality and reinforce the fact that Little River is an amazing place to explore and enjoy.

Let’s recap… Y’all, June was WET! It seemed like we stayed drenched the first four weeks of water testing. This wasn’t a bad thing. (Personally, I loved it.) Because of the rain, we were able to observe stormwater runoff and how it is linked to higher E. coli levels. We found that higher E. coli levels usually returned to safe levels within 24 to 48 hours after a rain event. We also found that cloudy water usually had higher E. coli levels. Out of all 172 E. coli tests, only seven were dangerously high; nine were moderately high. That means, overall, Little River Looks Really Good!

July and August warmed up and dried up. My wife, Angie, and I love to go testing together, but sometimes work pulls us in separate directions. I caught myself hurrying through the testing day to see how efficiently and accurately I could perform the routine. As the temperature got hotter, that approach lacked the same fun appeal. So, I got my youngest daughter, Ellie, to go with me. She was a great help and great company. We could not, not have some fun too, so Ellie and I took the opportunity to cool off in the water at Martha’s Falls and the Canyon Mouth.

If you haven’t visited these areas, they are absolutely awesome places to swim. An annual pass to Canyon Mouth is $35 and really worth it. The NPS folks are doing a great job with the park and we proudly support them.

Clean Water calls for a celebration! Starting 5 p.m. on Friday, August 30, at Roadside-Que in Fort Payne, Justin and the gang will have a band on the back porch. Come on and throw down with your river family. Roadside will donate a portion of beer sales from the night to LRWK. We hope you will come out and Raise A Glass to Little River! Cheers!

Another incredible opportunity we had this summer was to be a part of the Southern Exposure Film Fellowship. "Something About Little River" was produced and directed in Mentone this summer by an emerging filmmaker, Jeb Brackner. The short documentary film tells authentic, engaging stories about Little River and the people who cherish it. This film not only highlights our incredible waterway but will also help with our Wild & Scenic Campaign. Alabama Rivers Alliance will premiere the Southern Exposure films on September 12 at Altamont School in Birmingham and Little River Waterkeeper will host a free screening on Thursday, September 26, at the JSU Canyon Center at 6 p.m. We hope that everyone in the community will come out and support this exciting event. For more information about Southern Exposure Films, visit southernexposurefilms.org.

The Little River Waterkeeper organization held its annual board retreat last month on the river in Mentone. We completed work on a strategic plan for the next three years. Martha Hunter with the Alabama Rivers Alliance facilitated the two-day meeting and did an excellent job of guiding us through the process. We remembered where we have been as an organization and set clear goals for where we are going. We had great food, laughed a bunch, and—this goes without saying—we had a cool-down swim in Little River. The result from planning will bring about some positive changes in the organization. Our goal to evolve Little River Waterkeeper into a stand-alone organization will reflect our mission to foster and protect the pristine resource of Little River through education, awareness, and monitoring. Another goal high on our agenda is to nominate Little River for inclusion in the National Wild and Scenic River system. This is an extraordinary opportunity for Little River and our area. Our tests have proven that Little River has had GREAT water quality for the last several years and confirms that your Little River is one of the cleanest rivers in the water rich state of Alabama. We are excited to launch this campaign with our partners at Alabama River Alliance.

Our last Full Moon Kayaking Adventure of the season will be on Saturday, September 14, from 7–10 p.m. This is a fun and easy event, with great views of the rising moon. We’ll launch on beautiful Lake Lahusage just before dark and paddle out to the old washed-out dam and talk about the days gone by. Experiences like these make a lasting impact on participants. The evening adventure is a $40 donation that includes your sit-on-top kayak rental. Spaces are limited. Send Angie an email at angie@oneworldadventureco.org and let her know you want to join the fun!

Bill Shugart is the Little River Waterkeeper. Visit littleriverwaterkeeper.org for more information.

Birmingham in 1915 at the Sloss Company’s North Birmingham furnace. He was on his way home in a jitney bus (an old-fashioned taxicab) when it was struck by a train that was carrying molten iron slag. "The 'hot pot,' as we called it, turned over and killed him," Jacqueline explained. "My grandmother took to her bed. That's what women did in those days." Alice’s health declined and she remained bedridden for the next 10 years, until she died at the Biddle farm in 1926 at the age of 62.

Jack had hired Miss Elsie Johnson (born in 1899) to care for Alice and the farm. Elsie lived in the log cabin on the property, and after Alice died, she stayed on to continue helping on the farm. "Back then, it didn’t look too good for a younger woman to live in the home of an older man," explained Jacqueline, "so in 1927, she and Jack married." They had a child in 1935 and named her Mary Ann. Three years later, Jack died in his Mentone home at the age of 76, with his granddaughter Jacqueline, who he called "Bootsie" due to her love of dance, by his side.

Neighbor Dianne Lowe Kuehl recalls that Mary Ann, who was about 10 years older, taught her how to swim in Little River. "We’d walk up to the rock by the Berry Patch to swim, and then Mary Ann would swim by herself back to the farm. As a young girl, I was terribly impressed by that," she said with a chuckle.

Jack left the farm to Elsie, so she would have somewhere to call home in her older years. In 1940, she married George Barr, who, with a twist perhaps reminiscent of an early 20th-century novel, had been the husband of Jack and Alice’s eldest daughter, Edith, who passed away in 1912.

George and Elsie lived happily for many years while taking care of the farm. "I loved coming up to her bed. That’s what women did in those days." After Earl died, the house became too much for Mary Ann to handle maintaining on her own, and it fell to some level of disrepair. By 2012, Jacqueline bought the home from her, and Jill and her husband David attended to many of the renovations needed. In 2015, the family realized that tending to the home repairs on the weekends was unsustainable and they reluctantly put the house on the market. Then, to circle around, in walked the Bookers.

David Booker has personally done most of the renovation work during the past three years, bringing the house back to life. He installed 32 structural piers and replaced all floor girders and joists. He learned the needed skills when he took a class on being a general contractor at their local community college when he and Jennifer were repairs on the weekends was unsustainable and they reluctantly put the house on the market. One for the cat, one for the bucket, one for me. My sister would find arrowheads by the dozens, all the time, down by the rock wall on the road." George died in 1958, and Elsie died in 1989. She is buried in Little River Cemetery, where her Johnson relatives are also buried.

Mary Ann inherited the home, and she and her husband Earl Lucas shared their time between their homes in Birmingham and Mentone. "Mary Ann was a nurse," explained Dianne Kuehl. "She kept her pony, Tinker, on the farm. Tinker suffered from seizures, so Mary Ann would drive up from Birmingham to prepare medication by hand. She loved that pony."

Jack wasn’t the only Biddle who grew to love Mentone. His older brother, Jim, had moved from Birmingham to Mentone, where he died in 1932. Another older brother, Joe, had also emigrated from England after serving as a captain in the British Army. Trained as an engineer, he spent time prospecting in Alaska during the Klondike Gold Rush, and moved to Mentone about 1906. He was recognized as a progressive farmer and, like David Booker, advocated vertical farming (see Little River Orchard, on page 7). Joe was a close friend of Col. Milford Howard’s and considered to be the colonel’s favorite craftsman. He helped build New Union School in Mentone, as well as Alpine Lodge and the dam and huge overshot water wheel at Alpine. While roaming the lodge, he fell from the roof and died as a result of his injuries in 1926. He is buried at Holly Springs Cemetery in Mentone.
Confessions of a Lapsed Recycler
by Tobey Miller

I consider myself a staunch environmentalist. I’ve been active in environmental battles for most of my adult life. When recycling became a major issue, I was out there with my banner preaching against the curse of our American habit of Make It, Use It, then Throw It Away. I’ve made posters and presented lectures on the value of matching nature’s circular, let-nothing-go-to-waste process. So, imagine my shame when I realized that I had become complacent about the value of recycling.

I can make excuses. After all, I moved here from a city where my recyclables were picked up at the curb. What? You mean I must take my recyclables to a recycling center 10 miles away?! That could take me as much as half an hour a month! But suffering soul that I am, I did it. The only problem was that, over time, I was recycling less and less and not really giving much thought to the Reuse, Recycle, Reduce mantra. And I wasn’t staying current with what is recyclable at our local recycling center. And I was way behind the times regarding the effect of plastics in our landfills and our lives.

It was clearly time to revive my environmental spirit and Think Globally, Act Locally. I learned what was currently recyclable at the Fort Payne Recycling Center. I learned that the center is clean, well-organized, open 24/7, and it accepts a lot more items than one might think. I talked with the manager of the center, Theresa Stone, and found her to be knowledgeable, helpful, and dedicated to recycling. I studied the plastic recycle resin codes and learned why they are so important. With a little bit of research and a lot of helpful hints from Theresa and from websites like Earth911.com, I have been able to reduce my household waste stream by more than half.

So, once again, I’ll raise my environmental banner and ask that you search your own recycling soul. Do you know what is recyclable locally right now? Do you know whether you can put that oil-stained pizza box into the cardboard bin? Do you know whether the recycling center now takes wide-mouthed plastic bottles? Do you know how to tell whether the plastic bottle cap can be recycled with the bottle? Are you unconsciously throwing away things that could be recycled? And when it comes to plastics, are there better choices than recycling?

Come to Moon Lake Community Library on Saturday, September 14, at 12:30 p.m. and I’ll answer these questions and more. You’ll learn some valuable information and laugh while you’re doing it (think “recycling fashion show”). And you’ll be doing the yourself and the earth a favor.

Congratulations Ellie Cox!

Ellie Cox, who lives in Mentone and is a sophomore at Valley Head High School, earned first place in painting at the state-level Beta Convention last spring. Through the generosity of family, friends, and the community, she was able to travel to Oklahoma City, OK, this summer to compete at the national level. This was her third time to compete at nationals. Ellie earned 10th place. She was able to share this experience with her younger sister, who also placed in painting but at the Junior level. Ellie said it was an honor to represent her state, her community, her school, and her family.
